

Executive Mentoring in Risk and Insurance

Many executives find insurance and risk management responsibilities thrust upon them. SIRS RiskThinkers designs personal programs to deliver a mix of skills training, knowledge development and one-on-one advice to accelerate the executive development process.

This involves two types of services.

1. Proactive Services

Mentoring services on a take or pay basis. We offer a series of 60 minute, intensive information and training sessions to ensure the executive being mentored has a steady flow of challenge and intellectual stimulation. The sessions include:

- Understanding strategic risk.
- Understanding operational risk.
- Building an effective insurance disclosure process with line management.
- Understanding the Australian Risk Management Standard ANZS 4360
- Fundamentals of the environment management
- Benchmarking OHS performance.
- Fundamentals of business continuity planning.
- Introduction to insurance
- Industrial Special Risks insurance - protecting property and income
- Introduction to liability insurance
- An additional two modules can be developed to address the client specific needs.

We create a work plan to deliver the services which may be clustered or spread over an agreed time period.

The intellectual property associated with these sessions is designed for one-on-one mentoring and remains the intellectual property of SIRS.

2. Responsive Services

We respond to enquiries which the mentoring subject may originate by telephone, e-mail or in meetings.

Types of enquiries anticipated include:

- Immediate clarification of a risk or insurance issue
- Request to review a document and provide comment.
- Assistance to develop thinking on risk issues and policy
